NOTE

Please note that ONLY a certified IELTS examiner can provide you with an accurate band score.

Regardless, we strive our best to provide you with a well-educated and accurate estimation of your actual band score. Nonetheless, this does not essentially render into the fact that our evaluation of the assessed compositions are neither error-prone nor error-free.

If by any chance, you feel that our estimation of your band score is unfair or inaccurate, please contact either Mr.Soleimani or Farzad Academy's central office. Prompt action will be taken.

The chart gives information on the percentage of women going into higher education in five countries for the years 1980 and 2015.

Summarise the information by selecting and reporting the main features, and make comparisons where relevant.

Write at least 150 words.

Section One

In this section your work is evaluated ONLY from a grammatical point of view. Your grammar and punctuation are weighed and alternatives which are deemed to enhance the correctness, readability, and -to some extent- cohesion of your essay will be suggested.

Please NOTE that Task Response and Coherence of your essay are not considered in this section.

The bar chart compares the rate of women who left school to receive higher education between ~~the years~~ 1980 and 2015 across five different countries. Overall, in all countries (except for Australia), the percentage of female tertiary students (in 2015) was higher than in 1980.

Overall, it is illustrated in the chart that female qualification seekers' percentage in 2015 is higher than in 1980 in all countries, except for Australia. Moreover, Australia and South Korea accounted for the highest and lowest number of females who left school and went for higher education, ~~respectively~~.

In 1980, Australia had the highest percentage of women who dropped out of school, at roughly 58%. Similarly, followed by in France, in which, exactly half of the women left school. Furthermore, less than 50% of women in the UK in UK, USA and South Korea left school to seek higher education. Among these countries, above all, in South Korea had where the highest rate of school leavers school-leavers at was approximately 15%.

In 2015, the percentagepercentage of female school-leavers of all countries experienced a rise except for Australia, which remained the same. Surprisingly, the rate of school leavers in South Korea doubledKorea became doubled in 2015. Meanwhile, the UK and UK and USA had their rate increased to between 50 to 60%. In France however, there was a slight uptrend of about only 5%.

Section Two

In this section we evaluate Task Response, Coherence & Cohesion, and Lexical Resource in your essay. Here, we examine your original essay. In this section, we do NOT consider our suggestions in the previous section.

Please NOTE that although TR, CC, LR, and GRA criteria are assessed separately in the IELTS test, practically they affect one another.

ASSESSORS' JOINT FEEDBACK ON YOUR ESSAY

Dear Candidate,

We believe that your overall band score on this essay is most likely 7.5.

There are a few points that we would like to share with you about your essay;

1. As for TA, you covered all requirements of the task. However, there were some inaccuracies in your description.
2. As for CC, you used a sufficient number of cohesive devices. Your report was well organised and a clear progress through your essay was obvious.
3. As for LR, although you attempted to use less common vocabulary, your awareness of word formation reduced at some points in your report. Also, some of the vocabulary did not quite fit the context.
4. As for GRA, you showed good control of grammar. You managed to produce frequent error-free sentences. However, you did make a few errors.
